DECLARATION UNDER 37 C.F.R. SECTION 132
 BY DAVID ALLISON BENNETT FILED IN SUPPORT OF AMENDMENT AND RESPONSE TO OFFICE ACTION
 DATED DECEMBER 10, 2008 REGARDING THE ABOVE-IDENTIFIED APPLICATION

BACKGROUND INFORMATION ABOUT THE DECLARANT

In support of the Amendment and Response to the Office Action dated December 10, 2008, I, David Allison Bennett, declare under 37 C.F.R. § 1.132 as follows:

1. I have more than fifteen (15) years of experience in the area of private carrier (e.g., UPS®, FEDEX®, DHL®, etc.) and public carrier (e.g., the United States Postal Service ("USPS")) mailing and shipping technologies.

Application Serial No. 09/684,869
Declaration by DAVID ALLISON BENNETT
In Support of Amendment and Response
to Office Action Dated December 10, 2008

2. As of the date of making this Declaration, I am a business systems architect for iShip Inc., one of the assignees of the above-identified patent application. Before joining Velleb, Inc., a predecessor of iShip Inc., I worked for Connectsoft/Adonis Software on a contract for United Parcel Service® ("UPS®"). In particular, I joined Connectsoft/Adonis Software in 1993 and worked with that company until 1995 when Velleb was formed.

3. In or about 1999, iShip Inc. announced a merger with Stamps.com Inc. The merger was completed in early 2000. In or about 2001, Stamps.com Inc. spun off iShip Inc., which was acquired by UPS®. iShip Inc. is currently a fully owned subsidiary of United Parcel Service of America, Inc., which is a fully owned subsidiary of United Parcel Service, Inc.

4. I am one of the inventors named on the above-identified patent application. I am also one of the inventors named on various pending U.S. Patents Applications involving shipping technologies, including, for example, U.S. Patent Application Nos. 09/684,871 and 09/684,870. I am also one of the inventors named on U.S. Patent No. 7,117,170 (Bennett, et al., entitled "APPARATUS, SYSTEMS AND METHODS FOR APPLYING BILLING OPTIONS FOR MULTIPLE CARRIERS FOR ONLINE, MULTI-CARRIER, MULTI-SERVICE PARCEL SHIPPING MANAGEMENT," Issued October 03, 2006).

DISCUSSION OF THE UPS AND UPS ON CALL REFERENCES CITED BY THE ABOVE-MENTIONED OFFICE ACTION AND INFORMATION ABOUT THAT REFERENCE AVAILABLE THROUGH INTERNET ARCHIVES

5. I have reviewed the UPS and UPS On Call References cited by the above-mentioned Office Action. The UPS reference cited by the above-mentioned Office Action is titled "UPS: Service Guide." At the bottom of the UPS

to Office Action Dated December 10, 2008

Reference is a website address reference:

<http://web.archive.org/web/19981206043709/ups.com/using/svc-index.html>. That website address also indicates that the reference was obtained through the www.archive.org website, also sometimes referred to as the "WayBack Machine Internet Archive." The UPS On Call Reference cited by the above-mentioned Office Action is titled "On Call Air Pickup." At the bottom of the UPS On Call

Reference is a website address reference:

<http://web.archive.org/web/19990508182528/wwwapps.ups.com/servlet/ODSServlet/>.

6. In making this Declaration, I accessed the WayBack Machine Internet Archive at <http://www.archive.org/>. In the "Take Me Back" box on the home page of the WayBack Machine www.archive.org website, I entered the address for UPS®, namely, <http://www.ups.com/> and clicked the "Take Me Back" button. After I had clicked the "Take Me Back" button on the WayBack Machine home page, a Search Results page was displayed, entitled "Search Results for Jan 01, 1996 – Sep 28, 2008." On the Search Results page, horizontally across the page, were listed the years 1996-2006, and with scrolling, 2007-2008. There were no entries listed under the year 1996. There were only two entries listed under the year 1997. There were a number of entries listed under the year 1998. And there were many entries listed under each of the remaining years 1999-2008.

7. I clicked the Search Results page entry for the date Dec 05, 1998, which caused the display of what appears to be an archived operational exemplar UPS® Home Page from the UPS® website, the Internet Address of which was reported as: <http://web.archive.org/web/19981205132745/http://ups.com/>, a true and correct depiction of which is depicted in Exhibit A hereto. The archived operational exemplar UPS® Home Page displayed a number of underlined fields that appeared to be links.

8. One of the apparent links at the bottom of the archived operational exemplar UPS® Home Page was labeled "Service Guide." Because the first page of the UPS reference cited by the Office Action is titled "Service Guide," I clicked the "Service Guide" link. Doing so caused the display of what appears to be an archived operational exemplar UPS® Service Guide page from the UPS® website, a true and correct depiction of which is depicted in Exhibit B hereto. The content of the archived operational exemplar UPS® Service Guide page matches the first page of the UPS reference cited by the Office Action and reports the same Internet Address, namely, <http://web.archive.org/web/19981206043709/ups.com/using/svc-index.html>, as the first page of the Office-Action-cited UPS reference.

9. On the UPS® Service Guide page as depicted in Exhibit B, I clicked a link for "UPS Next Day Air®." Clicking that link caused the display of what appears to be an archived operational exemplar "UPS Next Day Air®" page from the UPS® website, a true and correct depiction of which is depicted in Exhibit C hereto. The content of that "UPS Next Day Air®" page depicted in Exhibit C appears to match the "UPS Next Day Air®" page (page 4) of the Office-Action-cited UPS reference and has the same Internet address, namely, <http://web.archive.org/web/19990302081421/ups.com/using/services/domestic/1da-guide.html> as the Office-Action-cited UPS reference "UPS Next Day Air®" page.

10. The "UPS Next Day Air®" page depicted in Exhibit C stated "Use the Quick Cost Calculator to determine shipping rates, availability and delivery times for UPS Next Day Air." The "Quick Cost Calculator" was a link. Clicking the "Quick Cost Calculator" link caused the display of what appears to be an archived operational exemplar "UPS Quick Cost Calculator™" page from the UPS® website, a true and correct depiction of which is depicted in Exhibit D hereto. The Exhibit D "UPS Quick Cost Calculator™" page shows the Internet address <http://web.archive.org/web/19990220223708/ups.com/using/services/rave/rate.html>.

11. The archived operational exemplar "UPS Quick Cost Calculator™" page depicted in Exhibit D indicates a copyright dated "1994-1999" and states "Calculate shipping charges to compare UPS services and published rates for shipments from the U.S. and Puerto Rico to destinations in more than 200 countries and territories around the world. Required fields are shown in bold. Rate calculations are based on the detail of information you provide." (Emphasis in original). The archived operational exemplar "UPS Quick Cost Calculator™" page depicted in Exhibit D has an input section titled "ORIGIN" that provides input fields for an Origin Country and Postal Code. The archived operational exemplar "UPS Quick Cost Calculator™" page depicted in Exhibit D has an input section titled "DESTINATION" that provides input fields for Destination Country, City and Postal Code, and that provides a Yes/No indicator for whether the Destination Address is a Residential Address. The archived operational exemplar "UPS Quick Cost Calculator™" page depicted in Exhibit D also has an input section titled "PACKAGE INFORMATION" that provides input fields for a Drop-off/Pickup selection, a Packaging Type, a Package Weight, and Package Dimensions. The archived operational exemplar "UPS Quick Cost Calculator™" page depicted in Exhibit D also provides a "Calculate" button. The archived operational exemplar "UPS Quick Cost Calculator™" page depicted in Exhibit D indicates that shipping charges will be calculated.

12. The archived operational exemplar "UPS Quick Cost Calculator™" page depicted in Exhibit D does not provide any input field for inputting, or for otherwise identifying, a shipping date. The archived operational exemplar "UPS Quick Cost Calculator™" page depicted in Exhibit D does not indicate that any delivery date or dates, or delivery time or times, would be determined in connection with the calculation of shipping charges.

13. In the input fields on the archived operational exemplar "UPS Quick Cost Calculator™" page depicted in Exhibit D, I entered an origin postal code, a destination postal code, an indication that the destination was not a residence, a selection for Drop-Off/Pickup as Drop-Box Letter Center, a selection of Package Type as UPS Letter Envelope, and a weight of 1 pound. I then clicked the "Calculate" button. Clicking the "Calculate" button caused the display of a WayBack Machine page titled "Not in Archive," reporting an Internet address <http://web.archive.org/web/19990220223708/qcost.cgi>, a true and correct depiction of which is depicted in Exhibit E hereto.

14. Using the Internet "Back" button, I navigated back to the archived operational exemplar UPS® Service Guide page depicted in Exhibit B. On the UPS® Service Guide page depicted in Exhibit B, I clicked the "UPS Next Day Air Early A.M.SM" link which caused the display what appears to be an archived operational exemplar "UPS Next Day Air Early A.M.®" page from the UPS® website, a true and correct depiction of which is depicted in Exhibit F hereto. The content of the "UPS Next Day Air Early A.M.®" page appears to match the "UPS Next Day Air Early A.M.®" page (pages 2-3) of the Office Action-cited UPS reference and has the same Internet address, namely, <http://web.archive.org/web/19981206153933/ups.com/using/services/domestic/eam-guide.html> as the Office Action-cited UPS reference "UPS Next Day Air Early A.M.®" page.

15. The "UPS Next Day Air Early A.M.®" page depicted in Exhibit F stated "Use the Quick Cost Calculator to determine shipping rates, availability and delivery times for UPS Next Day Air Early A.M." The "Quick Cost Calculator" was a link. Clicking the "Quick Cost Calculator" link on the "UPS Next Day Air Early A.M.®" page depicted in Exhibit F caused the display of what appears to be an archived operational exemplar "Quick Cost Calculator™" page from the UPS® website, a true and correct depiction of which is depicted in Exhibit G hereto. The Exhibit G "Quick Cost Calculator™" page shows the Internet address <http://web.archive.org/web/19981203124546/ups.com/using/services/rave/rate.html>.

16. The archived operational exemplar "Quick Cost Calculator™" page depicted in Exhibit G indicates a copyright dated "1994-1998" and states "Please complete the form below to calculate charges for shipments from the continental U.S. to destinations throughout the U.S. and around the world." The archived operational exemplar "Quick Cost Calculator™" page depicted in Exhibit G has an input section titled "Origin" that provides input fields for an Origin Country and Postal Code. The archived operational exemplar "Quick Cost Calculator™" page depicted in Exhibit G has an input section titled "Destination" that provides input fields for Destination Country, City and Postal Code. The archived operational exemplar "Quick Cost Calculator™" page depicted in Exhibit G also has an input section titled "Shipment Information" that provides a drop-down-menu input field for a "UPS Service" that shows "Next Day Air Early AM" as the selected UPS®

Service. The archived operational exemplar "Quick Cost Calculator™" page depicted in Exhibit G also has a number of indicators for a "Shipment Method" selection. The archived operational exemplar "Quick Cost Calculator™" page depicted in Exhibit G also has input fields for a Package Weight, and Package Dimensions. The archived operational exemplar "Quick Cost Calculator™" page depicted in Exhibit G also has various indicators for "Confirmation Options" and for "Optional Services." The archived operational exemplar "UPS Quick Cost Calculator™" page depicted in Exhibit G also provides a "Calculate Cost" button. The archived operational exemplar "Quick Cost Calculator™" page depicted in Exhibit G indicates that shipping charges will be calculated for the particular UPS Service selected.

17. The archived operational exemplar "Quick Cost Calculator™" page depicted in Exhibit G does not provide any input field for inputting, or for otherwise identifying, a shipping date. The archived operational exemplar "Quick Cost Calculator™" page depicted in Exhibit G does not indicate that any delivery date or dates, or delivery time or times, would be determined in connection with the calculation of shipping charges.

18. Using the Internet "Back" button, I navigated back to the archived operational exemplar UPS® Home page depicted in Exhibit A. On the UPS® Home page depicted in Exhibit A, I clicked the "Pickup" icon tab at the top of the page, which caused the display of what appears to be an archived operational exemplar UPS® "On Call Air Pickup" page from the UPS® website, a true and correct depiction of which is depicted in Exhibit H hereto. The content of the archived operational exemplar UPS® "On call Air Pickup" page depicted in Exhibit H hereto appears to match the UPS On Call reference cited by the Office Action and has the same copyright date, namely, 1994-1999, and the same

Internet address, namely,

<http://web.archive.org/web/19990508182528/wwwapps.ups.com/servlet/ODSServlet/>, as the Office Action-cited UPS On Call reference.

19. On the archived operational exemplar UPS® "On Call Air Pickup" page depicted in Exhibit H hereto, I entered a postal code in an input field titled "Pickup Location;" I allowed the other "Input" data to default to a Pickup Date of Saturday, May 8, the Shipment Ready at time of 3:00 PM, and the Pick Up by time of 4:00 PM; I then clicked the "Continue" button. Doing so caused the display of a page titled "Not in Archive," also showing the Internet address, <http://web.archive.org/web/19990508182528//servlet/ODSServlet/>, a true and correct depiction of which is depicted in Exhibit I hereto.

20. The archived operational exemplar UPS® "On Call Air Pickup" page depicted in Exhibit H hereto does not disclose that there would be any costs associated with the Pickup, and does not indicate that any costs would be displayed as a result of inputting information in the above-mentioned input fields to schedule a Pickup and as a result of then clicking the "Continue" button under the "Scheduling Information" block. Rather, in order to obtain costs, it appears that the "Quick Cost Calculator" link, such as shown on the archived operational exemplar UPS® "On Call Air Pickup" page depicted in Exhibit H hereto, must be clicked.

21. Using the Internet "Back" button, I returned to the archived operational exemplar UPS® "On Call Air Pickup" page depicted in Exhibit H hereto. When the archived operational exemplar UPS® "On Call Air Pickup" page depicted in Exhibit H hereto was again displayed, the data that I had previously input in the input field titled "Pickup Location" had been cleared.

Application Serial No. 09/684,869
Declaration by DAVID ALLISON BENNETT
in Support of Amendment and Response
to Office Action Dated December 10, 2008

22. Without any postal code input on the archived operational exemplar UPS® "On Call Air Pickup" page depicted in Exhibit H hereto, I clicked the "Quick Cost Calculator" link on that page. Even though the postal code input field on the archived operational exemplar UPS® "On Call Air Pickup" page depicted in Exhibit H hereto had been cleared, clicking the "Quick Cost Calculator" link on that page caused the display of an archived operational exemplar "UPS Quick Cost Calculator™" page, showing the Internet address, <http://web.archive.org/web/19990427170005/www.ups.com/using/services/rate/rate.html>, and showing a copyright date of 1994-1999, a true and correct depiction of which is depicted in Exhibit J hereto.

23. Even though the postal code input field on the archived operational exemplar UPS® "On Call Air Pickup" page depicted in Exhibit H hereto had been cleared, because then clicking the "Quick Cost Calculator" link on that page caused the display of a page titled "UPS Quick Cost Calculator™," it is my opinion that the archived operational exemplar UPS® "On Call Air Pickup" page depicted in Exhibit H hereto does not indicate that information under the "Scheduling Information" section of that page must have first been input in order to click the "Quick Cost Calculator" link to cause the display of the archived operational exemplar "UPS Quick Cost Calculator™" page depicted in Exhibit J hereto in order to calculate a rate.

24. Similar to the "UPS Quick Cost Calculator™" depicted in Exhibit G hereto, the operational exemplar UPS® "UPS Quick Cost Calculator™" page depicted in Exhibit J hereto (accessed from the operational exemplar UPS® "On Call Air Pickup" page as depicted in Exhibit H hereto), has an input section titled "ORIGIN" that provides input fields for an Origin Country and Postal Code; an input section titled "DESTINATION" that provides input fields for Destination Country, City and Postal Code, and that provides a Yes/No indicator for whether the Destination Address is a Residential Address; an Input section titled "PACKAGE INFORMATION" that provides input fields for a Drop-off/Pickup selection, a Packaging Type, a Package Weight, and Package Dimensions; provides a "Calculate" button.

25. In the input fields on the archived operational exemplar "UPS Quick Cost Calculator™" page depicted in Exhibit J hereto, I entered an origin postal code, a destination city, an indication that the destination was not a residence, a selection for Drop-Off/Pickup as Drop-Box Letter Center, a selection of Package Type as UPS Letter Envelope, and a weight of 1 pound. A true and correct depiction of the archived operational exemplar "UPS Quick Cost Calculator™" page with the input data before I clicked the "Calculate" button is depicted in Exhibit K hereto. I then clicked the "Calculate" button on the archived operational exemplar "UPS Quick Cost Calculator™" page as depicted in Exhibit K hereto. Clicking the "Calculate" button caused the display of a WayBack Machine page titled "Not in Archive," reporting an Internet address <http://web.archive.org/web/19990427170005//using/services/rave/qcost.cgi>, a true and correct depiction of which is depicted in Exhibit L hereto.

26. The archived operational exemplar "UPS Quick Cost Calculator™" pages as depicted in Exhibits J and K (accessed from the operational exemplar UPS® website "On Call Air Pickup" page as depicted in Exhibit H), do not provide any input field for inputting, or for otherwise identifying, a shipping date. The archived operational exemplar "UPS Quick Cost Calculator™" pages as depicted in Exhibits J and K do not indicate that any delivery date or dates, or delivery time or times, would be determined in connection with the calculation of shipping charges.

27. Using the Internet "Back" button, I again returned to the archived operational exemplar UPS® "On Call Air Pickup" page as depicted in Exhibit H hereto. When the archived operational exemplar UPS® "On Call Air Pickup" page as depicted in Exhibit H hereto was again displayed, I again entered a postal code into the input field titled "Pickup Location." A true and correct depiction of the archived operational exemplar UPS® "On Call Air Pickup" page with input data is depicted in Exhibit M hereto.

28. I again clicked the "Quick Cost Calculator" link on the archived operational exemplar UPS® "On Call Air Pickup" page as depicted in Exhibit M hereto, which caused the display of an archived operational exemplar "UPS Quick Cost Calculator™" page, showing the same Internet address as the page depicted in Exhibit J, namely,
<http://web.archive.org/web/19990427170005/www.ups.com/using/services/rave/rate.html>, and also showing a copyright date of 1994-1999, a true and correct depiction of which is depicted in Exhibit N hereto.

29. In the input fields on the archived operational exemplar "UPS Quick Cost Calculator™" page as depicted in Exhibit N hereto, I entered an origin postal code, a destination city, an indication that the destination was not a residence, a selection for Drop-Off/Pickup as Drop-Box Letter Center, a selection of Package Type as UPS Letter Envelope, and a weight of 1 pound. A true and correct depiction of the archived operational exemplar "UPS Quick Cost Calculator™" page with the input data before I clicked the "Calculate" button is depicted in Exhibit O hereto.

Application Serial No. 09/684,869
Declaration by DAVID ALLISON BENNETT
in Support of Amendment and Response
to Office Action Dated December 10, 2008

30. I then clicked the "Calculate" button on the archived operational exemplar "UPS Quick Cost Calculator™" page depicted in Exhibit O hereto. Clicking the "Calculate" button caused the display of a WayBack Machine page titled "Not in Archive," reporting an Internet address <http://web.archive.org/web/19990427170005//using/services/rave/qcost.cgi>, a true and correct depiction of which is depicted in Exhibit P hereto.

31. Because clicking the "Quick Cost Calculator" link on the archived operational exemplar UPS® "On Call Air Pickup" pages as depicted in Exhibits H and M hereto, caused the respective display of an archived operational exemplar "UPS Quick Cost Calculator™" page as depicted in Exhibits J and N hereto, and because in the case of the archived operational exemplar UPS® "On Call Air Pickup" pages as depicted in Exhibit H, no Pickup Location (postal code) had been input, and because in the case of the archived operational exemplar UPS® "On Call Air Pickup" pages as depicted in Exhibit M, a Pickup Location (a postal code) had been input, it is my opinion that, whether or not all Pickup data, such as a Pickup Location, has been input under the Scheduling Information section of the operational exemplar of the UPS® "On Call Air Pickup," clicking on the operational exemplar "Quick Cost Calculator" Link on the operational exemplar UPS® "On Call Air Pickup" page will result in the display of an operational exemplar "UPS Quick Cost Calculator™" page.

32. Further, in view of the above-described results of accessing various operational exemplars of the UPS® "Quick Cost Calculator™" webpage, it is further my opinion that the various operational exemplars of the UPS® "Quick Cost Calculator™" webpage do not indicate that a calculation of a rate would consider any particular Pickup [or shipping] date, or that any Pickup [or shipping]

Application Serial No. 09/684,869
Declaration by DAVID ALLISON BENNETT
in Support of Amendment and Response
to Office Action Dated December 10, 2008

Date must have been input, such as through the UPS® "On Call Air Pickup™" webpage, in order for a rate to be calculated.

33. Yet further, in view of the above-described results of accessing various operational exemplars of the UPS® "Quick Cost Calculator™" webpage, it is further my opinion that because inputting data into input fields of the various operational exemplar UPS® website pages entitled "UPS Quick Cost Calculator™" does not result in a calculation, the various operational exemplar "UPS Quick Cost Calculator™" pages do not serve to indicate whether or not a rate for more than one delivery service at a time would have been calculated.

34. Yet further still, the various operational exemplar "UPS Quick Cost Calculator™" pages do not indicate that a rate for any carrier other than UPS® would be calculated.

35. To the best of my recollection, the absence of any input fields for a shipping date, and the absence of any indication that any delivery date(s) or time(s) would be determined with respect to shipping rates, from the "UPS Quick Cost Calculator™" pages depicted in Exhibits D, J, K, N, and O, and the "Quick Cost Calculator" page depicted in Exhibit G, are an accurate reflection of the operation of the UPS® website during the periods of time for the "[UPS] Quick Cost Calculator" pages depicted in those Exhibits (based on their respective copyright dates of 1994-1999 (Exhibits D, J, K, N, and O), and 1994-1998 (Exhibit G)).

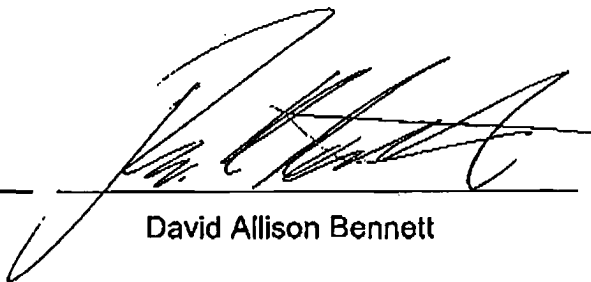

36. I hereby declare that all statements made herein of my own knowledge are true and that all statements made on information and belief are believed to be true; and further that the statements were made with the knowledge that willful false statements and the like so made are punishable by fine or imprisonment, or both, under Section 1001, Title 18 of United States Code and that such willful false statements may jeopardize the validity of the application or any corresponding U.S. patent.
